Inquiry having satisfied us that it is the every day practice all over the United States for the Circuit judges to hear motions argued in one State which affect mat-ters in another, if all parties consent, we felt some curiosity to find out just what the real facts of this matter were, and we have done so; and this morning lay them before

our readers.

When Mr. Royall presented his bill to Judge Bond, praying for an injunction to restrain the Indemnity Board from paying WINDOW FRAMES, MOLDINGS, &c. with State's money out to trespassing treasurers, Judge Bond set the motion for the urers, Judge Bond set Alexandria, bainjunction for a hearing at Alexandria, be-fore himself and Judge Hughes on the 11th of January. So that it will be per-ceived that the first order made in the cause was one that it should be heard in Virginia.

was one that it should be heard in Virginia.

He also set the other two matters for hearing at the same time and place.

On the 11th of January both the judges,
Mr. Royall, and Attorney General Ayers
were in the court room at Alexandria ready to proceed with the cases, but Mr. Tucker, whom the Indemnity Board had employed as additional counsel, did not come until it was too late in the day to argue the cases. Judge Bond thereupon made an order con-tinuing the hearing until the April term of the court at Richmond, but reserving leave the court at Richmond, but reserving leave for all parties, by consent, to call them up sooner. Thereupon Mr. Tucker, Mr. Ayers, and Mr. Royall, upon conference together, resolved to ask the judges to set them for hearing at an earlier day in Baltimore; and, upon presenting this request, both Judge Hughes and Judge Bond agreed to hear them in Baltimore on January 28th. Before the 28th arrived Judge Hughes informed Judge Bond that he would not be able to be in Baltimore on the 28th, and Judge Bond at NO. 63 KING STREET
